Employment History

January 2017 September 2018

I discovered my taste for the world code through a great friend who told me about i
I started by watching videos from javascript you tube channels
Then I bought my first book called HTML and CSS for designers
And there began my collection of online courses and technology books Make static web pages for friends who have small businesses
While I was still studying and working from my previous profession in industrial engineering

Xipe Technology

October 2018 September 2019

my first contact with these types of companies full time

I met people who gave me their trust and while I helped them with their work he learned from them and their work environment i learned how to use Ruby on Rails, Sass, Data Table, Wordpress, Angular.js, VIM & ect.

I made contact with students and we received feedback contact them and work for several of them, in their tasks or jobs, modeling in react, layout in css, and helping them with vanilla js
